DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to the claims have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Drawings

1. The drawings filed on 17 Nov 06 are approved by the examiner.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over AAPA in view of Cugnini et al., US 6,389,070.

In considering claims 1-3 and 7,

As disclosed by applicant, prior art (Fig 2) displays a vector form illustrating the NTSC converted signal which is derived from a chrominance/luminance component signal (meeting the 1st/2nd color different component signal, the luminance component as a luminance component of a composite and the generated color component from the 1st/2nd color difference).

Art Unit: 2622

However, as stated by applicant, the diagram is a vector display and thus not one dimensional.

The use of a bar graph (one-dimension), pie chart or line display are options which are typical/conventional options in displaying relationships between/of variable(s).

Although, this concept is notoriously well known in the art, the examiner will rely upon Cugnini discloses a single bar graph which includes multiples relationship to multiple variables (Fig 4b).

Therefore it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to modify AAPA which discloses the concept of display the signals in vector form, by also providing the display in a single dimension (i.e. bar graph) based upon the type of display the user desires.

In considering claim 4,

The use of different color for the amplitude values is a mere design choice, since the use of similar colors or not is a visual tool preferenced by a user and thus provides no unexpected results regarding their use.

In considering claims 5 and 7,

As shown in AAPA (Fig 2), the display includes units to display the region (from a min to max) the values pertaining to the displayed vector. Thus the use of scale marks corresponding to a min or max acceptable value and range in accordance within a standard are conventional options for a viewer/user in designing/viewing a graph/chart, since the material plotted/charted shows a relationship between a corresponding scale and the data plotted with respect to it.

Conclusion

3. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.

Information Retrieval (PAIR) and the Electronic Filing System (EFS). PAIR (<http://pair.uspto.gov>) provides customers direct secure access to their own patent application status information, as well as to general patent information publicly available. EFS allows customers to electronically file patent application documents securely via the Internet. EFS is a system for submitting new utility patent applications and pre-grant publication submissions in electronic publication-ready form. EFS includes software to help customers prepare submissions in extensible Markup Language (XML) format and to assemble the various parts of the application as an electronic submission package. EFS also allows the submission of Computer Readable Format (CRF) sequence listings for pending biotechnology patent applications, which were filed in paper form.
